CONCERN EXPRESSED FOR ROSS ROAD RESIDENTS

The secretary of the United Fire Fighters Union, (Victorian Branch) this week expressed concern for the residents in the Ross Road area of Altona, should any major mishap occur at petroleum refineries.

The secretary, Mr. Ern Tamme said, "It's not our position as a union to say there will be an explosion or a fire, but it's better to be wise than sorry.

"We feel that every precaution should be taken to ensure maximum safety".

He criticised PRA and the council for their past attitude to safety.

At discussions between PRA, the Altona Council and his union recently, he said: "The council should share responsibility for the concern of what was considered a high potential fire danger at the refinery".

He said houses in Ross Road should never have been built.

Cr. Ian Stewart agreed with Mr. Tamme: "The houses were built at the time we were under the control of Werribee Shire.

"I don't think they worried where the houses went, as long as it wasn't in Werribee."

He said that people had been buying land in the area until eight or nine months ago, "Mainly because it's cheap".

Mr. Tamme claimed the present safety officer scheme where four men were employed was insufficient, allowing for sick leave and holidays.

He advocated a system similar to that employed at the Shell Refinery at Corio, where 10 men are employed as permanent safety officers.

There have been on increases in safety staff since the refinery opened in 1950, against a rise in production of nearly half since last October, he alleged.

Due to mechanisation, production could be increased another 50 per cent. in the next six months, he said.

The PRA representative at recent discussions, Mr. P. W. Aplin, said the chief fire officer of the Metropolitan Fire Board was currently reviewing the fire fighting equipment at the refinery.

He said that the plant was designed not to allow any major rupture or explosion in the event of a mishap.

39 NEW CITIZENS

At a recent naturalisation ceremony 39 new citizens were welcomed into the community by the Mayor of Altona, Cr. Doug Grant.

Speakers were Cr. Ian Stewart, Father Des Cahill, of St. Leo's, Mr. A. Knight, MLC, and Mr. W. L. Floyd, MLA.

Father Cahill, who has recently returned from two years in Italy spoke of the difficulties of learning another language and assimilating in to a community.

Cr. Stewart outlined the work and services of the council and the local amenities available to them.

Supper was served in the Mayor's room, supplied by the Altona Primary School Mothers' Club.

The Altona CWA presented flower sprays to each of the lady candidates.

Fine gesture

This week the Star was told of a fine sporting gesture, in the true Australian spirit, made by the girls of the Altona Marching Girls.

There is a big marching event at Mildura shortly and the Altona team arranged to go up in a bus with the girls from Tottenham, the Tottenham Triumphs, who recently won the Australian Championships.

The Altona girls arranged billets, but the Tottenham girls couldn't.

To allow the area to have the best representation and give the public the best marching possible, the Altona girls gave the Tottenham girls their billets, forfeiting their own chances at the event.

As a result the girls have finished their season and now go straight into training for the next.

The team have done well this year, especially as it was their first competition year.

The girls hope to have a full set of blazers for the next season and are appealing to former Altona marching girls to donate

$200 DAMAGE AT WIMPEYS

Thieves and vandals in the past fortnight have stolen and damaged $200 worth of property owned by George Wimpey and Company, builders in Altona.

A company spokesman said that thieves and vandals had broken into new houses nearing completion and sheds on site in McIntyre Road, and stolen fittings.

Site foreman Mr. Gordon McKenzie was reluctant to speak about the thefts, for fear that it could attract even more of the same.

Bathroom fittings, plumbing, cupboards, brass fittings and vanity units have been the thieves targets at four of the McIntyre Road sites.

On one site vandals smashed five windows valued at $65.

The company said that extra security measures had been taken and Altona police are investigating the incidences.

A 12 ft. ladder was stolen from another builder, A. V. Jennings in Sleight Road Altona, this week.

The Altona Working Mens' Club lawn bowling team were the guests of the Altona council at th last meeting.

They were on hand for the presentation of a certificate of merit from the City of Altona for the championship bowls year.

The pennant ladder results at the end of the year showed that the team had eight wins, one loss and wyas 119 shots up over the whole season.

They defeated the second place getter by 6 points.

● Pictured above receiving the certificate are past president of the club Austin Molloy shaking hands with the Mayor of Altona, Cr. Doug Grant and bowls captain Bernie Jackson.

Is it any wonder railway stations in the western suburbs are targets for vandals? With the infrequency of trains late at night, what else is there to do? Perhaps the solution is the installation of a ping pong table. You can bet your Bippy Altonian commuters would hold all the championship titles.

An APC chief said this week that they were confronted with a new form of pollution probably unlike any other in the world. Having combated the noise and smell pollution from their flare which burns off excess gases, the residents are complaining about the excessive light generated by the flame. They say it throws shadows on the wall of their houses and frightens the children.

We had a visit from two representatives from the Altona Hospital's Ladies' Auxiliary this week. They wanted to discuss their publicity in The Star.

Thinking back, the philosopher who wrote, "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world", wasn't kidding. From now on ladies you can expect a much bigger coverage.

Someone has stuck a sign, "Cops Ahead", on the railway crossing in Millers Road. Drivers should thank the unknown sign installer for the tip, even if there are no police up the road. It slows enough drivers to a crawl for a mile or two, and who knows when the sign is fair dinkum?

An engagement ring was lost last week, in the vicinity of Stirling Avenue, Seaholme.

ACTION CALL ON POLICE STATION

Altona councillors have criticised the State Government for their procrastination in establishing a police station at Altona North.

Cr. Pat Lynch said council appeals for the station had been pigeonholed for years.

The issue was raised at the last council meeting following a letter from the Honorable A. W. Knight MLC, stating there had been no allocation in State Government loan funds for the police station.

Proposing the motion Cr. Charles Carlsson said: "We must take stronger action, we've been getting the same replies for years."

He suggested that an approach be made to the Chief Secretary, Mr. Hamer.

Cr. Carlsson said: "I read tonight that there are going to be 100 extra policemen available."

"I know Newport and Williamstown have their troubles, but I'd like to see extra men to keep the Altona station open 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

A motion was passed that a letter be sent to the Chief Secretary.

Cr. Carlsson later asked that the town clerk, Mr. J. Waters, prepare a crime report for the Altona area.

Cr. C. Carlsson

As the representative of the Royal Life Saving Society he will present RLSS awards to members.

There will also be representatives at the presentation from the Melbourne Suburban Beach Association, of which the Altona Club is a member.

Tickets are available from the honorary secretary, Mr. W. Stoker, or the president, Mr. Ray Edwards.

Tickets are going fast.

NO PROGRESS ON NEW CENTRE

There has been no progress on the 'Lewis Constructions' shopping complex in Humes Quarry, Miller Road.

Cr. Ian Stewart reported this to councillors at last week's meeting.

He said, "Meantime there has been some activity by a local organisation to have objections compiled in this area, and they are now being received by the town clerk."

"The town clerk's department is acknowledging the objections and informing the people that they should object on the appropriate form to the Board of Works."

On holiday

Altona council's building surveyor, Mr. Arthur Beech, has taken two week's leave.

In his absence his duties have been undertaken by Mr. Ron Winder, assisted by building inspector, Mr. Hank Kip.

OPEN PROFILE

Cr. Ian Stewart

Cr Ian Stewart lives for Altona.

He will argue, reason and coax his way at council meetings until he is satisfied that he gets the best deal for local citizens.

Mr. Stewart, who holds the town planning portfolio for Altona, is not opposed to flats.

He said: "I would like to see high-rise flats here, provided they conform to current town planning regulations.

"There should be open space around them, but because there isn't much land available, you really have to use your imagination.

"About 15 per cent. of the population prefer to live in flats.

Mr. Stewart attends town planning lectures at Melbourne and Monash universities to keep up with new developments.

At the age of nine he contracted polio and spent five years in hospital.

He believes he has overcome his disability because he is an ambitious person.

He said: "I found the more you do for yourself the more people help you.

"All my life people helped me and as a councillor I am able to repay their kindness in a small way."

Mr. Stewart thinks it's a pity that local government power is being slowly whittled away by State Government.

He said: "It would be possible to attract more qualified people if councillors were offered a salary.

"Young professional men, who have small children, can't afford to work for nothing.

"We get qualified building inspectors, qualified health inspectors, qualified engineers, why not councillors who are also specialists?"

"Our council has a group of well educated men, but some other councils are not as lucky.

"A leading MP said recently that councillors work about four times harder than they did when he first became one many years ago.

"In the old days fewer people owned their homes, so they didn't worry about their city's appearance.

"Now, with greater home ownership, there is more civic pride.

"I wish everybody would vote at local elections. I don't mind if it's for me or against me as long as they care enough to vote."

Mr. Stewart is the Victorian sales manager at a big earth moving sales company and averages over two nights a week working at council matters.

He broadcasts car races from Calder Motor Raceway on three weekends out of five.

The rest of the time he makes things for the house in his well-equipped workshop.

He said: "That's where I invent things. Only none of them ever work."

Mr. Stewart used to race motor cars in hill climbs.

He said: "They've cancelled the licences of all disabled drivers. I am upset about this, because I love competition driving and I'm sure many disabled people feel the same way about it."

Mr. Stewart said there is no room for politics in Altona council. All councillors are independent.

He said: "I used to belong to Hawthorn Young Liberals, but that was because they had better looking girls than the Labor club."

Would he like to see a special project built in Altona?

Mr. Stewart said: "I certainly would. A large, heated, Olympic size indoor swimming pool.

"It will be built within 10 years."

Mr. Stewart's attractive wife, Marjorie, often attends council meetings and she takes a great interest in the city's development.

Mr. Stewart said: "She's been a great help to me and gives me valuable advice from a woman's point of view."

Would Mr. Stewart like to be mayor one day?

He said: "No, I wouldn't. I never liked the limelight."

But the limelight has a habit of catching up with men like Mr. Stewart.

Letters to the Editor

The Star this week received two letters on matters of great local interest.

FLATS...

Mr. H. R. Larson, of Nelson Place, wrote:

"Having only recently heard of the Housing Commission scheme to build a 12-storey block of flats on railway land on the corner of Hanmer and Thompson streets, Williamstown, I am prompted to write expressing my complete amazement and mystification at the attitude adopted by our council towards this development."

Recently a private developer put forward a scheme to the council for what is evidently a reasonably high standard development on that Maritime property on The Strand.

However, our council has a policy of limiting development to two storeys so the proposal was rejected.

How, then, can they justify seeking from the Housing Commission this 12-storey development?

To cap it off they are offering a rates concession of 50 per cent to induce the commission to build in Williamstown.

Now it is well known that this development will house pensioners and I, for one, are not against this.

I will even be happy to subsidise their rates knowing the plight of the average pensioner, but surely a development of up to two storeys would be far more practical.

For the citizens of Williamstown it would certainly be more aesthetically acceptable.

Are we to have a repeat of the Nelson Heights development (also 12 storeys) which aroused so much adverse comment from citizens and visitors to Williamstown.

From only one quarter have I heard a kind comment as to their appearance.

I am led to believe that in winter they are extremely cold with the wind howling down the balconies. Surely it is an unsuitable form of living for elderly single people.

It is time that some of our councillors pulled their heads out of the sand and opened their eyes as to the wishes of the citizens of Williamstown.

By and large I think that they will find people in this municipality are against this 12-storey development so please investigate a similar scheme without the high rise before it is too late.

—H. R. LARSON.

The dock...

One of the strongest opponents to the siting of the dry dock at Point Gillebrand, Mrs. Dorothy Waight, also wrote to the Advertiser this week.

She wrote:

"In her book, Silent

Spring, Rachel Carson triggered world-wide alarm at the destruction of the environment which in a few years could destroy life on this planet.

In Williamstown, the anti-reclamation committee has roused the conscience of the community about conservation.

Many people in the community have endorsed the committee in the opposition—not to the building of a dry dock in Williamstown—but to having it by means of reclamation at Point Gillebrand.

They have endorsed the committee's attitude by signing its petition.

There are other places in Williamstown where the dock could be built without traffic hazards, damage to roads and so more expense to ratepayers.

Any change to the foreshore brings change in tide and currents.

The disappearing of sand from Williamstown's once-beautiful beach is one of many examples of what tampering with nature will do.

The almost unanimous support by people approached to sign the committee's petition is significant.

It shows public awareness of the danger of violation of the environment.

It was the same anti-reclamation committee which, about seven years ago, was largely responsible for saving Williamstown from having this same foreshore turned into an oil tank farm.

—DOROTHY WAIGHT

THE CURTAIN RISES

An audience goes to the theatre to be entertained; the drama critic goes to criticise.

He is usually made welcome by the theatre management because they appreciate his place in the scheme of things.

The good critic is the follower of a great tradition. Aristotle, in his essays on poetry and drama, set down the ground rules.

Johnson and Hazlitt, Shaw, Nathan and Tynan, among with more and less famous, all had a part in the development of the theatre.

What they said has been used by producers and actors in their endeavors to create the perfect production.

The serious theatre writer needs to be well educated in the history of the art. He needs to be free of personal prejudice and liberal-minded enough to accept new ideas.

The reviewer who writes just for style or satirical comment may be read, but whether he contributes much of value is questionable.

The critic that points out weaknesses and highlights the strong points of a production can do much to assist the producer and help the audience to an appreciation of the play as an entity.

Too fast for police car

A man drove so fast along Hall Street, Newport, that a police car could not keep up with him, a police witness told Williamstown Court last week.

Warren Arthur Burke, of Flat 2, 68 Kororoit Creek Road, pleaded guilty to charges of having driven dangerously and having exceeded 35 miles an hour in a built up area.

Constable Kim Walsh, of Newport police, told the court he followed Burke's car north along Hall Street from Taite Street to Simcock Avenue, on January 6.

He said Burke's speed varied between 70 and 75 miles an hour.

Constable Walsh said Burke did not decrease his speed as he approached intersections, and crossed several at least 70 miles an hour.

He added that at one stage Burke passed another car and travelled for a fifth of a mile on the wrong side of the road.

Constable Walsh said when he stopped him, Burke said he did not realise he was travelling so fast and that he hadn't taken any notice of any of the intersections.

Mr. F. Clancy, SM, fined Burke $175 for dangerous driving and cancelled his probationary driver's licence.

He disqualified him from obtaining another for 12 months.

Burke was also fined $50 for having exceeded 35 miles an hour.

Speed his down fall

A Springvale man did not appear in Williamstown Court to answer a speeding charge.

Bruce Ratcliffe, of 26 Goodwood Drive, Springvale, was charged with having exceeded 35 miles an hour in Hall Street, Newport, on December 11 last year.

Police witness, Constable Glenn Ellis of Williamstown police, told the court he followed Ratcliffe's car along Hall Street between Farm and Craig Streets, Newport.

He added that Ratcliffe's speed varied from 55 to 60 miles an hour. Ratcliffe told him his excuse for speeding was that he was in a hurry.

Mr. Hammond SM fined Ratcliffe $50, cancelled his probationary licence and disqualified him from obtaining another for four months.

Goods go

A man has been questioned by Altona police about a petty theft in Ken Kims Sports Store, in Pier Street, Altona.

A man was seen by one of the store staff removing goods from the shop.

Mrs. Alva Hayden, of Myrtle Grove, Altona has taken over Gayles Beauty Salon at 55 Pier Street, Altona. Alva is the wife of Constable Terry Hayden of the Altona uniformed branch.

Schoolboy pop group makes itself known

The Unknown is the name of a group unlikely to stay unknown much longer.

It comprises four Altona North schoolboys whose average age is 13.

Three of the boys, Russell Sullivan 14, Victor Buxton 13 and Geoffrey Morrison 13, attend Altona North Technical School.

The fourth member, Mark Kruse, 13, is a pupil at Altona North High School.

And getting together for practice is an easy matter. Three of the boys live in Marigold Avenue and Mark Kruse lives in Cylamen Avenue, close by.

They practise in the garage at Russell's home. "My parents don't mind," says Russell. "There's always a lot of "Mainly we play for friends," says Mark, "It might be a wedding, or a birthday, and we have played at the Ford Plant at Broadmeadows twice."

The group was formed last August and in September they had their first big shock.

They entered the "Battle of the Bands" contest at Broadmeadows, under the impression that, young groups like themselves were taking part.

"But when we got there," says Mark, "it was filled with hippies and things and older groups.

venues are limited because of their age.

Mark's mother, Mrs. Loise Kruse, explained that several hotels had shown interest in the group, but their age prevented them from playing there.

On the technical side, Russell plays drums; Mark lead guitar, Geoffrey, rhythm guitar, and Victor, bass guitar.

The boys' parents don't mind them playing in a group either.

In fact they have spent money to the tune of $1000 for the group's equipment.

"They say it keeps us off the streets," says Geoffrey "it's an interest for us."

Geoffrey's father, Mr. Don Morrison, manages the group and he and Russell's father, Mr. Gus Sullivan, have organised the boys' bookings.

We got an encouragement award though."

The Unknowns play current Top 40 numbers and are mainly influenced by the Creedence Clearwater Revival.

They wear snazzy outfits — bottle green flares, with gay print shirts in mixtures of greens and lemons a lemon cravat sets off the outfit.

They hope to become professional, and think they have a reasonable chance of making good.

He's the general knowledge king

President of the Newport Branch of the Australian Natives Association, Mr. Harry Shaw, has won the individual championship of the annual general knowledge competition.

The competition was run by the Metropolitan Committee at the Athenaeum Gallery on May 14. The 10 highest scorers in the teams competition — including three from port — were each asked six questions by the adjudicator, Mr. G. E. Morris.

Mr. Shaw and Mr. Hector of the Fairfield Branch dead-heated with five correct answers.

After another series of questions, Mr. Shaw was declared the winner.

He was presented with a trophy by Mr. S. Geddes, of the Board of Directors on behalf of the Metropolitan Committee. In the Teams Competition, Newport won its section and will go on to the finals to be held later this year.

Littlies club to disband?

The North State Little Athletic Club is in danger of disbanding unless it gets more support from parents.

This would be a disaster for the 118 registered members, who participate so enthusiastically each Saturday morning throughout the summer.

The club's annual meeting will be held this Friday, May 21, in the staff room of the North Williamstown Primary School, starting at 7.45 p.m.

Anyone interested in athletics for the young is invited to attend this meeting. Entry is through the Station Road gates.

North State has an enviable record of producing first class little athletes (including interstate representatives in 1970 and 1971).

SHELTER NEEDS FUNDS

A bus shelter will be built at the corner of Florence Street and Kororoit Creek Road when funds are allocated to council by the Transport Regulation Board.

This was decided at the council meeting on May 3.

The decision follows a letter from Mrs. V. Zahra, of 72 Florence Street, Williamstown, asking if council would consider providing a bus shelter before winter sets in.

Mrs. Zahra wrote that bus passengers were forced to wait for buses almost on the roadway because of tall grass and bushes near the bus stop.

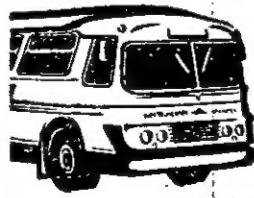

Reversed roles

The Advertiser apologises to the actor and actress in the Williamstown Little Theatre's play Summer and Smoke whose names and roles were published incorrectly.

Winner of the Williamstown Hospital Activities Club blanket raffle is ticket number 9475, B. Ciesielski, 12 Highgate Street, Spotswood.

PIPELINE REPLY

The project Manager of W.A.G. pipelines, Mr. Dave Gerber, this week assured Williamstown residents that construction of the oil pipeline through Williamstown would cause minimum public inconvenience.

He categorically refuted statements made at a public meeting at Newport that rock blasting would be used for excavations for the pipeline trench.

Mr. Gerber emphasised that blasting would not take place in any residential area.

If rock strata were encountered along Home

Road or in other residential areas, it would be removed by using pavement breakers or similar air-operated equipment.

Mr. Gerber also emphasised there would be no interference with private property or driveways, as the pipeline would be laid in streets and road reserves.

Home births?

The Director of the Victorian Royal Nursing Service, Miss Mary Evans raised considerable controversy with her suggestion that every encouragement should be given for a return to home births.

Obstetricians, nurses, hospitals and the general public all appear to be overwhelmingly in favor of hospital births.

The Royal Nursing Service is already heavily burdened with calls. Williamstown Hospital has indicated that its midwifery beds are always in heavy demand and expectant women in the area are urged to make early bookings to ensure hospital accommodation at the desired time.

Trust plans action

The National Trust has asked council whether it supports the Trust unconditionally in its fight to preserve the Cox's Garden area of Williamstown.

The trust is planning pronouncements, about the house at 3 Cox's Garden, including public dens.

Cr. Leo Hoffmann at last Monday's council meeting that council inform the trust that council supports its actions with old buildings.

But he added that his support was conditional on circumstances at the time. Council adopted the proposal.

Cr. Hoffmann said council had had considerable trouble with the Cox's Gardens problem.

He added that there was a limit to council's support, because council was financially embarrassed.

But council would give moral support to the trust.

ATTENTION SINGLE MUMS

The Victorian Council of Social Service has issued a wonderfully informative booklet entitled "information for Single Mothers", which is now freely available.

The booklet covers subjects from adoption to employment and post natal costs.

It lists organisations that can help single mothers all over Melbourne.

It is freely available from the council by writing or calling at 107 Russell Street, Melbourne in the offices of the Victorian Council of Social Services.

POLLUTION GROUP

The Altona Pollution Abatement Association will hold a public meeting to form an association, made of Altona citizens on May 24.

The meeting will be held in the Civic Hall at 8 p.m.

Guest speakers will be the Honorable Mr. A. W. Knight, MLC, and Cr. Les Crofts.

Mr. E. Houston, of Brook Drive, Altona, who is one of the people calling the meeting said this week, "This is a chance for all those folk who've been complaining about pollution to stand up and say their piece."

LOCAL LOSS

Many Williamstown friends attended the funerals last week of Arthur Blunt and Charlie Compton, two of Williamstown's best known and loved identities.

Arthur Blunt, who for years ran Blunt's boat building firm with his brother, Clem, died suddenly on May 10.

He was a foundation member and Master of the Maritime Masonic Lodge, and a member of the Barclay and Werribee Mark Lodges.

He was also a member of the Williamstown Royal Arts Chapter.

Mr. Blunt was still working in the family business until the time of his death.

Charley Compton died on May 7.

He worked almost all his life as an accountant for Thompson's Engineering Works.

His accounting abilities enabled him to work as secretary for several Masonic Lodges.

In his youth he played lacrosse for Williamstown.

Mr. Compton was well-known among his friends for never saying a bad word about anyone.

HOCKEY

First win for Altona

Altona Hockey Club had its most successful outing for the season on Saturday when six out of seven teams gained points.

More important was the notching of A Grade's first win for the season, at Grant Reserve.

Following on from last Saturday's draw, against Moorabbin, Altona played 70 minutes of fast, hard hockey to defeat Melbourne High School Old Boys 1-0.

In an all-out bid for points, Altona completely outclassed their opposition for the majority of the game.

Inside forwards, Ballie and Ford, created plenty of good play up forward, while Bartlett and Hunter had their hands full with the opposition wingers.

During the early stages of the first half, Altona played strictly to coach Max Blakiston's orders using the right wing which enabled a better avenue to goal.

Using good systematic play, the A's forced numerous penalty corners from which Lenyszyn scored the winning goal.

For the remainder of the first half, play saw-sawed with Altona's defenders, Verity, Blakiston and Lenyszyn having little trouble in controlling the circle area.

After half-time, Altona attacked from the bully. The A's had the opposition under pressure, and only twice in 20 minutes of play did they pass the half line.

Jock Smith at centre half played a major role and as well as being the instigator of many forward moves, let very few balls past him. After a couple of fierce clashes, the A's became unsettled and let the opposition get back in the game.

MHSOB forced several penalty corners. One would have been a certain goal if not for the expert keeping of state goalie, Bob Verity.

This save gave the A's more heart and they held on to register their first win for the season.

Best players: B. Verity, W. Lenyszyn, B. Smith.

C GRADE

Altona journeyed out to Greensborough and had a convincing 3-1 win.

In the past Altona has had trouble gaining points on the rough Greensborough grounds, but on Saturday they were clearly the better team. Who said Altona forwards cannot hit goals?

A well earned goal from Ian Bennett, followed by a determined goal from Peter Byrnes, was followed by a sizzling goal from skipper Harold Doefner.

It was very pleasing to see the great team work which led to these goals and some of the missed chances. Chris Bruce was also unlucky not to score.

Greensborough retaliated with a lucky goal but had the Altona defence under pressure on occasions.

Best — Byrnes and Doerner.

D GRADE

Finding teamwork for the first time this season the younger Altona side continually applied pressure to the Essendon backline forcing home two goals by half-time.

After half-time Altona continued its open play

by Lincoln Green

and were rewarded with a further goal before the final whistle.

Goals — B. Cronin, G. Blunt, R. Heaney.

E GRADE

Altona drew one-all with a very experienced Watsonia side.

They had by far more of the play, but were unable to penetrate the opposition goal.

At half-time both teams were even and it only looked a matter of time before the A's would score.

This was not to be, Watsonia came out in the second half and, much to the amazement of the Altona oldtimers and scored the first goal of the match.

After sixty or more shots at goal and thirty minutes of play, Eric Macauley scored, leaving Altona unbeaten at the top of the E Grade Ladder.

UNDER 14

Altona put on a great display of hockey to beat Strathmore 4-0.

The forwards combined well and kept the opposing defence under pressure all day.

Altona's defence blocked all forward moves by the opposition. All in all a 100 per cent improvement on last week's game.

Goals: M. Burgess 2, A. Relf 2.

Best: M. Burgess, D. Hibbert, M. Gilson, A. Relf.

WIN FOR N'PORT

Newport Baseball Club's A team returned to the winning list with a sound 14-8 win over Alphington.

A big improvement was shown in the fielding with only two errors being made.

Barry Cleary led the batters with three safe hits from a total of nine by Newport.

Barry Esmore and Des Forrester shared the pitching and Newport was always in control.

Safe hits: B. Cleary 3, A. McKay 2, S. Bunting, J. Merriman, K. Quinn and R. Simpson 1 each.

The B Team also had a good win when they defeated Alphington 41-5.

Harry Douglas, making a welcome return to the game, was undoubtedly the star of the game, striking out 16 batters and obtaining three safe hits.

All in all, it was a much improved performance by this team, which has not been playing as well as it could. This win should be the tonic that has been badly needed.

The C Team lost to Alphington, mainly through inexperience. Players new to the game are having their first season with the C Team and it is expected that this team will come up with a few surprising results.

However, with two good wins already this season the C Team is still a steep hurdle to be overcome by other sides.

Next games: Next Saturday, May 22, the A and C teams play Moorabbin at Newport, at 2 p.m., the B team play at Moorabbin, also at 2 p.m.

BASKETBALL

Except for a surprise turn of events the final four of the Western Districts under 18 basketball competition seems settled.

There may however, be a surprising twist in which team will be the winner.

At the moment Footscray Youth Club is ahead with 15 points.

But it seems likely, that Altona North Technical School, with 13 points will be the other team in the finals — and they could prove strong opposition for FYC.

The finals will be held on June 22 and two sporting manufacturers, Adidas and Puma are giving prizes.

Top point scorers at present are: Peter Dredge, Tottenham Tech 1, 68 points; Glen Wright Altona North Technical School, 59 points and Steve Brehany, Footscray Youth Club, 44 points.

Altona goes down to Keilor

Altona City lost to Keilor 2-1 in an exciting game at Kim's Reserve on Saturday.

Altona players appeared to need drilling. At one stage two players chased the ball, resulting in a waste of energy.

The defence was unable to clear, and Keilor swept to an early lead.

Herman and Murray tried to pull back the one goal lead, however, their shots were straight at the keeper. Iordanus scored a good goal, but the referee knocked it off for an infringement.

Keane took too long to open the game and Altona was struggling.

Reid did well as linkman, but his presence was missed at centre forward when Healey was moved into the link position.

After Keilor scored its second goal it was a totally different Altona side.

Healey set the pattern going in hard and quick distribution, the whole side followed behind him and what a pounding the Keilor defence took.

Savage Herman and Bayliss had scoring chances which were well stopped and then Copley back to his best decided it was time to show his forwards how it was done.

However, he was pulled down and it was a penalty.

Savage made no mistake and the pressure employed by Altona had to be seen to be believed.

Mick Micevski was cool, his accurate defence-splitting passes gave Savage two great chances.

The defeat has sapped Altona's confidence, but at Frankston next week it will have another chance.

The reserve XI continued its undefeated run to six games.

Collins, Delamyn and Saxton were in good form and scored a 2-2 draw.

SPORTSMAN IS MARRIED

Sporting identity Jeff Cameron and Miss Lynne Blanchard of Altona, celebrated their wedding at St. Eanswythes Church of England last weekend.

Jeff has played both tennis and football for Laverton. He has been Laverton Football Club's best and fairest several times and also best and fairest in the league.

He also plays pennant golf at Koorngal.

Matrons of honor at the wedding were Mrs. Helen Dickson, formerly of Altona and Mrs. Janet Baillie.

Bridesmaids were Jackie and Joanne Boland, the grooms neices. Little Janine Higginbotham was the bride's flowergirl.

Best man at the ceremony was Ron Cameron, the grooms brother, assisted by Derek Ferguson, who was the other groomsman.

The couple held their reception at Talbot House, Williamstown and left for a honeymoon on Daydream Island.

Softball juniors

Cubs opened the season with a good win over Demons at Sunshine on Sunday; 17 runs to 6.

Susan Barr pitched well to Ilonka Murko who also caught well throughout the game. Batting by all players was very good with Home Runs to Julie Boyd and Ilonka Murko.

More concentrated practice in fielding should get better results in future.

Best players: I. Murko, J. Boyd, S. Barr.

Next week Cubs meet Comets at 3.40 p.m. at Lloyd Reserve, players are reminded to be there 2.40 p.m. for practice.
